what IS the data and WHERE is it located in often departmentally widely distributed database environments. It is this problem that our product, MetaTrieve, provides an efficient solution for, with quite profound productivity implications for a wide range of critical IT and/or business analysis functions including ETL, Enterprise Application Integration, data mapping, data auditing, Business Intelligence, meta-data management and programming generally. In addition to its high productivity, MetaTrieve offers a very low learning curve and total-cost-of-ownership.
